Life on the Plains.

A Duel by Moonlight—Eleven Shots Fired.

[From the Cheyenne (Wyo. T.) Leader.]

George W. Via has for some time past been in charge of a band of horses belonging to E. W. Whitcomb, Via's headquarters being at a ranch some twenty-five miles south of this city, on Box Elder Creek, in Weid County, Col. A. H. Swan had a number of horses in this band also. A short time Mr. Swan discharged a herder named Granville Peak, but not liking to turn the fellow away entirely, he told Peak to join Via, and thus earn his grub until he found work. Via came to Cheyenne last Friday, returning Saturday, and that night Peak inquired if he had brought any money for him. Via said he had not. Peak then asked Via to loan him a revolver, saying he wished to go out and kill a rabbit by moonlight. Via handed him a five shooter, and Peak started out, but soon returned, saying it was too dark and that he did not feel well. He stuck the weapon into his boot leg, and the men then took one or two drunks of whisky, when Peak proposed that they ride to Calloway's sheep ranch, six miles distant. Via consented, and they saddled up and started.

When about a mile from their cabin Via asked Peak how he was feeling. "Pretty well," he replied, "only I'm awful dry." Via passed a bottle of whisky to him and Peak took a large drink. Via noticed a strange glint in his eyes as he returned the bottle, but thought nothing of it. A moment later Peak drew his revolver, threw his arm across the saddle, and shot Via in the leg, inflicting a painful wound in the right calf. He then whirled his horse, spurred him forward, yelling like a demon, and again firing at Via. The latter drew his revolver, and opened a lively fusillade, one shot striking Peak in the hip near the spinal column passing through his body and lodging just under the skin of the abdomen: another taking effect in the back of the neck and coming out through the jaw, while a third mortally wounded Peak's horse, and a fourth passed through his hat. Peak, of course emptied his revolver at Via, three of the five shots inflicting serious wounds, the first being, as stated, in the calf of the leg. The second struck him in the groin and ranged upward, where it may have struck a vital place, while the third ball struck him in the left wrist, shattering the bone, and making an intensely painful wound. When they reached the cabin Peak's pony fell dead. After lying there a short time Peak arose, saddled another horse, and rode to Calloway's sheep ranch, six miles distant, where he was cared for. Via was brought to this city, a surgeon summoned to attend him, and as comfortable as good nursing can make him. Peak is said by Mr. Whitcomb to be subject to periodical fits of insanity, and when in such condition will arm himself, rush about excitedly shouting that somebody is "after him," but never attacking his comrades. It is probable that he was out of his mind when Via reached home, and that the whiskey he had drank caused him to enter his crazed thoughts, with the terrible result above stated.

STRANGER THAN FICTION.—Miss Cora Dickson, a young girl of 22, arrived in Paris the other day from South America. Her life has thus far been a checkered one. At the age of 15, tired of the monotony of home, she ran away from her father's house with a large sum of money. She cut her hair short and donned a boy's garb. After becoming in succession a cabin boy, a clerk and a horse dealer, she turned up in Buenos Ayres, where she entered the army still disguised. She distinguished herself in the service, and became a Colonel. Some months ago, at a meeting of officers, she quarreled with one of those present. A duel followed, and she killed her adversary. On examining the dead man's papers, she found she had killed her oldest brother, who had left home when she was two years of age. Horror-stricken, she threw herself at the feet of her father, who promised to intercede with her father.

A HORRID THREAT.—A Parisian lady leaves her husband and takes refuge in the residence of a handsome man. The correspondent is not surprised when next day the aggrieved husband waits upon him, pallid and frigid. He meets him with a haughty bow.

"I am aware that my wife has sought the shelter of your roof," says the husband, producing a case of pistols.

The gay Lothario bows, and answers with equal disdain: "Sir, it is a fact, and I hold myself in readiness to give you the satisfaction you demand."

"I have pistols here," continues the husband, "and let me tell you that if ever you allow my wife to return to me, I will blow the roof of your head off. You hear me?"

JONAH AND THE WHALE.—A naturalist walks boldly to the front and announces that the preservation of Jonah in the whale's belly was not a miracle. The throat of the whale is large, and is provided with a bag or intestine so considerable in size that the whales frequently take into it two of their young ones when weak, and especially during a tempest. As this receptacle is furnished with two vents that serve for inspiration, it is claimed that Jonah could have lived there comfortably, and with a reasonable amount of furniture, for many years, provided he could obtain food and drink.

Anti-Coolie Clubs.

We do not know, nor do we very much care, who are responsible for the organizations known as Anti-Coolie Clubs; but we do know that they have been the means of exciting very considerable race prejudice against the Chinese, which has culminated in a series of butcheries, unsurpassed for brutality in China itself. We care a great deal for this. The honor and good name of California are at stake. Our Christian civilization, about which we boast so much, is in danger of suffering by comparison with the heathen barbarism of China, and we don't intend that this should happen without protest on our part. It is for the working classes of our own race on this coast to render a constitutional opposition effectual, by an orderly and intelligent line of action. This they have failed to do. Violence has taken the place of argument; and the consequence may be a decided reaction in favor of Chinese labor. In the Chico case the details show that the slaughtered Chinese did not supercede white labor. They were employed at contract work, clearing new ground for cultivation, which white men refused to do, although offered $4 per acre more for it. Now what we want to know is, whether the Anti Coolie Clubs mean to limit the area of cultivation in the State except upon conditions which would entail loss upon the proprietors of land?—S. F. Post.

The Post has here touched upon the defective principle which has rendered so many trade unions pernicious in their effects. There was never a time when the working class lacked men who were able and willing to champion their interests, and in the proper way. Such men have raised the toiling classes from a condition of absolute servitude to a perfect independence of head and hand. No honest man who earns his bread has but a right to look forward to wealth and standing in his State. Has not this change from a state of subjection been too rapid? Has it not led to exaggerated notions of the laborers' power? Have we not, in a generous desire to teach the masses their own importance and clothe them with unlimited freedom, made them dangerous to their own interests? The slave of centuries can scarcely appreciate freedom in a decade, and put the query to the workingman whether he has studied the powers of his class and the proper redress for his grievances; whether there are not members of his class who prejudice its interests through zeal and erroneous ideas of the virtue of force and violence.

Chico Murderers.

The New York Times thus speaks of the Chico murderers:

There is no special significance to be attached to the so-called massacre of Chinese in California, except so far as it shows that a lawless element exists in the white population in the interior of the State. The crime is supposed to be committed as a warning to the people of that region who employ Chinese labor. In this particular case a number of Chinese were working for much less price than white laborers would accept, but the white laborers had been offered higher prices than those paid to Chinamen. Men of the latter sort, not willing to work themselves, are commonly the most noisy of those who decry low wages and pauper labor, and these murderous rioters have heard so much about the right of the laboring man to dictate terms to his employer, that they undoubtedly felt justified in killing a few men by way of enforcing that right. The California papers seem to be very anxious to have the Chinese question settled peacefully. The Chico assassins thought to hasten matters. Public opinion in California is not educated up to the point of Chinese extermination, but it is evident that the brutal class, whose doings are now denounced in public meetings, are only following out the legitimate teachings of some of the better educated demagogues who have discussed the question from the stump.

The Times takes a very clear and sensible view of the atrocity alluded to. However, there is one factor not in its possession. It is one which has, to our mind, the main influence in exciting acts of violence to the Chinese. Chico has, what has proved a bane to every city, town or community where such a society has been organized, viz.: an anti-Chinese league, which, however innocent its members may be, serves to divert suspicion from individuals and makes comparatively easy such outrageous affairs as that perpetrated near Chico. These orders serve as cloaks for the most desperate and fanatical to hide their crimes under, and thus furnish a stimulus to outrage and murder. Yet, notwithstanding the unfortunate multiplicity of associations of this kind, and the several murderous affairs laid at their doors, there is not on this Coast, nor has there been, any marked or open opposition to the Chinese.

De Koland-Burdick Romance.

Probably there never was a case of genuine love which moved continuously onward with wind and tide at all times favoring the loving couple. To everyone whose life is not stale and prosy, there is more or less romance; but, when love touches the heart, reason is led too often a charmed captive, and a new grace of romance is thrown about such an one's courtship as a compliment to the high inspiration and promptings of genuine affection.

Several months ago Lieut. De Koland, a young Russian officer, met, loved and won the heart of Miss Jennie Burdick of San Francisco. For some reason the parents of Miss Jennie would not agree to the match. On the 18th instant Miss Burdick was of age, and of course must take that important step partly in the dark, yet guided and even illuminated by love, and unite her fortunes and all to those of the gallant Lieutenant. The young naval officer arranged the plans. Willing friends intervened, and Sunday morning at 10 o'clock Miss Jennie and party set sail from a San Francisco wharf for Vallejo, 28 miles distant. Off Angel Island the wind died down to a perfect calm, and the oars were brought into use. But the worst was to follow. A heavy fog set in, and land was hidden from their view. They missed their course and did not reach Vallejo until 3 o'clock in the afternoon. A signal was raised and the Lieutenant lowered a man-of-war's boat and soon had in his embrace the idol of his heart. The couple proceeded at once to Fairfield to procure the license, but the County Clerk was not so accommodating as Pete Comstock, and refused to violate Lent. At 12:30 yesterday morning the article was procured, and at 5 a. m. two loving hearts were made one in Vallejo. Jennie then kindly sent the following telegram to her anxious friend Burdick: "I am married and happy. Love to papa and mamma. Am on my way to Virginia City."

This morning the happy pair passed through town on their way to the Comstock. May their cup of joy be full, and the Russian Bear and American Eagle lie down in peace at night and awake in the morning to a happy, active and useful life.

TELEGRAPHIC.

A Times Washington special of yesterday says: It is now definitely settled that an extra session will convene the last of May or the 1st of June, there is great anxiety to see the roll of members prepared by Clerk Adams. He declines to make it public, but asserts that after conceding the Republicans all they claim, the Democrats will have three or four majority.

A special from Berlin says: Russians appear to regard the protocol as a valuable concession obtained by Russia.

A special from St. Petersburg quotes the Golos as declaring that peace may now be considered certain, as England has apparently decided that the protocol contains the principle of coercion.

A dispatch from Constantinople says popular feeling against Mahmoud Damoudi is gaining ground. Thirty Softas were arrested. The Minister of Police has been discharged because he was not sufficiently watchful. A large body of Softas went to the palace on Wednesday to demand the release of their comrades.

Governor Hampton of South Carolina has given written guarantee to the President that if the troops are withdrawn no violence will occur or be allowed, but that he will succeed Chamberlain by legal means only, and under a statute enacted by the Republicans in 1868 to enable them to put out some Democratic incumbents. The statute provides for the summary eviction of any person intruding himself into a public office by a warrant issued by a Circuit Judge. The party evicted under such a warrant is authorized by the statute to assert his claim or pretensions in the Courts, if he wishes, but he must give way first and at once on issue and on presentation of a warrant to the officer elected.

A Tribune Washington special says: The confirmation of Fred Douglass is looked upon by the best men of both parties in Washington as a triumph not only of the new Administration, but also of moderate Southern men, to whom the country owes so much for their patriotic course during the past winter. Besides greatly strengthening the President's new Southern policy, it gives assurance that he will have adequate support in the Senate, no matter what dissensions may take place in the Republican party.

A Washington special thinks Sickles will be reappointed Minister to Spain. No other changes are probable. The President's son, Webb C. Hayes, is likely to go to Paris as Secretary of Legation.

The New York Sun says Grant's Long Branch cottage is being put in order, and is to be refurnished. It is said its use has been tendered to Hayes. A hotel keeper, too, has decided to offer Hayes a cottage.

A Washington special says: General and Mrs. Grant will leave Washington the present week for a visit to the West, accompanied by their youngest son now in college. They will sail for Europe in May. They expect to be absent from the country at least two years, and General Grant desires to travel as any other private citizen of the United States without public demonstrations by the government authorities of the countries he will visit.

Ex-Governor Emery Washburne died Sunday at his residence, No. 28 Quincy street, in Cambridge, of pneumonia, after an illness of about four weeks. He was born February 14, 1800.

Postmaster General Keys says that when a vacancy exists in any office connected with this department in the Southern States, preference will be given to a Republican, all other things being equal; but should it be impossible to find a Republican who will be satisfactory to a large majority of the people whose business is directly affected by the appointment, or in case of contest, then I shall not hesitate to step aside and select the person who in the opinion of the Department will give satisfaction to the business interest of the community. While I shall always be glad to receive the advice of Senators and Representatives in Congress, touching matters of this kind, yet I shall not consider myself in any bound to act upon it. My desire is to do the greatest good to the greatest number.

FOREIGN.

A dispatch says a deputation from Bosnia to implore the aid of the Czar, passed through Kishenell yesterday.

It is stated that the Pope has dictated a note which the Nuncio will present to the various governments, representing the condition to which His Holiness will be reduced if the Clerical Abuses bill is passed.

A telegram from Seara says: There was a six hours' obstinate fight between the Turks and Bosnians on Saturday, between Bonaventure and Drezgina. Both sides suffered heavily, and the Turks retired upon the Livnor.

A special from Berlin says: Russians appear to regard the protocol as a valuable concession obtained by Russia.

A special from St. Petersburg quotes the Golos as declaring that peace may now be considered certain, as England has apparently decided that the protocol contains the principle of coercion.

A dispatch from Constantinople says popular feeling against Mahmoud Damoudi is gaining ground. Thirty Softas were arrested. The Minister of Police has been discharged because he was not sufficiently watchful. A large body of Softas went to the palace on Wednesday to demand the release of their comrades.

A Good Movement.—The advocates of temperance have united in San Francisco to carry forward a series of meetings during the present week, the object of which should meet the approval of all good citizens. Notices of the time and places of these meetings, with the speakers who are to address them, appear elsewhere in our columns. Their purpose is to arouse public opinion in favor of a more stringent license system and of its rigid enforcement. We have heretofore expressed our opinion of the disgraceful laxity of the system now in vogue. It is a misnomer to call it a system at all. We are not exceeding the truth when we say that there is no other large city under the control of an English speaking people where the license system is so lax, and where there is so entire a disregard of all the ordinary safeguards that experience has shown us the necessity of, as exists in the city of San Francisco. Our criminal annals are swollen by this indifference. The more respectable men engaged in this business are also interested in procuring a decent license system. The community at large should encourage the present effort, which, if wisely and temperately conducted, cannot fail to produce good results.—S. F. Post.

Four clerks of the United States Treasury left for Europe yesterday, carrying with them $10,000,000 worth of four and a half per cent. bonds for the Syndicate.

RENO EVENING GAZETTE.

LOCAL AFFAIRS.

INDIAN FIGHT.—Last evening two Indians, one of whom was partly drunk, got into a fist fight at the west end of Earl's depot. The sober man seemed to have the best of the situation, and after marking his opponent slightly about the nose and mouth, was satisfied with holding him. This set the other beside himself with rage, and his ravings caused much amusement for the crowd of men and boys which soon assembled. The most amusing portion of the entertainment was the part taken by the defeated man's squaw. She was large enough to be peaceable, but the sight of her lord in trouble aroused the martial spirit, and whenever opportunity afforded she belabored her husband's enemy upon the back with a large stone; all the time carrying her papoose slung upon her back. Her movements were not more graceful than the broken profanity indulged in by her husband.

THE LAST DROP.—We knew all along that he would come. When the early Spring came upon us with its sunny smiles, we detected a heaviness in the air that foreboded evil. When Hayes was elected, and the affairs of government settled, we still felt uneasy, and knew that there was misfortune in store. When business began to revive and a rise in the stock market was to set all things right, we hesitated about being sanguine of uninterrupted prosperity. When, last week, our landlady said she was not in a hurry for board money, we thought her voice had a hollow sound. Even when the young leaves came peeping out from trees and shrubs, we thought all the time there would be a late frost to nip them, and it has come. He has come just as we said he would, and was on our back streets to-day, plying his nefarious trade. He is an organ grinder.

SHADE TREES FOR THE POOR FARM.—Yesterday Mr. R. P. Chapin sold 200 silver maples to the county for shade trees on the Poor Farm. We are glad to learn that the county proposes to furnish a profitable ornament to this part of her property. Those who are so unfortunate as to be cast on the county when sick, should have a place of comfort, and one where they may recover as fast as possible. Such, in fact, is not only true humanity but is also true economy. He is a close fisted man who would not pay ten cents more tax that poor convalescents might enjoy a delightful shade during the warm portions of a fine Summer's day.

THE EXCHANGE.—Cooches is getting his building in shape with all possible speed, and it will soon be ready for occupancy. In the corner will be a bar, fine lunch stand, and E. Meyer will have his cigar store next to Manning & Duck's. The rear portion of the building will be occupied by Mr. C.'s family, and we are also informed that Mr. Cooches intends to run the restaurant himself.

NO RAIN.—Barlow, who made a flying trip through Lassen County on Sunday, says that the ranchers are all busily at work but complaining bitterly of the hard times and the prospects for a dry season. They fear that in case no late storms come to their relief a total failure of crops will ensue, and the consequent scarcity of pasture will seriously cripple the dairy and stock business.

Clear Havana Cigars, two for 25 cents, at E. Meyer's New Cigar Store.

BUSY.—The contractors and builders are now rushing about, figuring, planning and making estimates with out number. Several new buildings are projected or in process of erection. The large brick residence in Evans' Addition, commenced some time since, is rapidly approaching completion.

E. Meyer makes a specialty of Bit Cigars. Those who have tried them smoke them again.

NOTABLE.—We saw Dan Mattox on the street to-day looking better than he has for weeks, and as he looked at the street which he had helped to clean his eye lit up with pride and his lip quivered with emotion.

None but the best brands of Smoking and Chewing Tobacco kept at E. Meyer's New Cigar Store.

Virginia street received another scar to-day. Cause—the laying of a water pipe.

The Granger house maintains a quiet and comfortable reading room. A worthy example.

The Chronicle of yesterday tells how Miss Jeffreys-Lewis gave her numerous admirers in Virginia, the slip, and allowed them to wait for her at the train. The lady was here yesterday, and went below last night.

Messrs. Boardman & Varian have rented a fine suite of rooms in the Odd Fellows' Building and will soon begin to occupy the same.

There was a slight scrimmage last evening resulting in no damage beyond hard words.

Barlow wanted us to swear out a warrant against the organ-grinder who came to town to-day. We indignantly refused his request. Barlow has no ear for music.

Said a young lady: "I didn't know Mr. A., he has so much beard on his face." The young gentleman in question has a feeble moustache with which he has patiently wrestled for six months and the longest whisker of which will not quite measure half an inch.

Mr. L. M. McKenzie dropped into our office last night and left with us a copy of the Pacific Coast Business Directory. He has a most useful book, and one that should be in the hands of every business man.

Norton thinks he can do without the Branch Saddle Rock and offers to sell cheap.

To-day the sale of Mr. J. E. Simpson's interest in the drug store of Simpson & Osburn was completed. J. S. Shoemaker is the new partner. Mr. Shoemaker is an excellent man, and we hope he will find his new business both pleasant and remunerative. He certainly is fortunate in having a gentleman for a business associate.

Five car loads of emigrants "did us the honor" to-day. One of the tourists brought a pick all the way from Kansas with him. He thought he might discover a "Bonanza or suthin'."

J. C. Hagerman this morning started to Modoc county, California. He will be absent on business about a week.

Louis Marks will soon open a store in the building formerly occupied by Dr. C. W. Fredericks.

The floor of the Reno Savings Bank takes on an oilcloth covering to-day.

The joke Kinkead yesterday played on his combination lock was not at all serious. A very fortunate combination of circumstances intervened and enabled the business of the bank to go smoothly on.

Mr. Lyman, engineer of 48, returned this morning from Sacramento where he had just had a successful operation performed on a finger which he had mashed several months ago here in town.

This evening Allen Bragg goes below. He will be in the city about a week.

A small amount of dry civil business was transacted to-day in the Justice's Court.

Nine prisoners are confined in the county jail. They don't mind it much however. They would be better pleased if Lamb would let them go fishing this pleasant weather.

Lovejoy thinks it rather severe that he must be confined in jail for 15 days simply because he knocked the skin off of a small portion of Peyer's chin.

PASSION WEEK.—Next week is Passion week, which is the close of the Lenten season. Saturday night, the 31st inst. closes the fast. Sunday, the first of April, is Easter Sunday, and is the first day of freedom for those who have, during 40 days of special religious exercises made themselves good. About that time the revivals at the Methodist and Baptist Churches will cease, and the community will be flooded with goodness.

CHEAP FOR CASH.—J. N. Jaquish, Commercial Row, has now on hand a large assortment of Harnesses, Bridles, Saddles, Whips, Halters, &c., &c., which he will sell cheaper than he ought to—for cash. Breeches Harness, $25 to $35; Lead Harness $28 to $45; Buggy Harness, $45 to $55; in fact everything at your own price. Bring money with you and say what you want. You won't go away without trading.

For a genuine imported Havana Cigar go to E. Meyer in J. E. Jones & Co.'s old Bank.

COMPLIMENTARY.—We acknowledge with pleasure the receipt of a complimentary ticket to attend the fourth annual ball given by the employees of the V. & T. R. R. The ball will be given at Arlington Hall in Carson, next Thursday evening, March 22d. Judging from their previous parties, and the preparation made for this one, the party next Thursday evening will be one of the pleasantest and most successful of the season. Reno should send a good delegation. Messrs. Church & Jones furnish the music. Tickets, including supper, $5.

LIBRARY MEETING.—The Library Club met last evening, but owing to the small attendance no business of importance was transacted. The affairs of the club were discussed at considerable length, and definite action will be taken at a meeting to be called by the President.

The Talmud.

Tryon Edwards, in Scribner's, says: The Jews, Protestants and Romanists all agree in receiving as canonical the books of our Old Testament. But as the Romanists would add to these the apocryphal books, so the Jews insist on adding their oral law. They say that when the written law was given to Moses, inscribed on two tables of stone, God also gave another and verbal law explanatory of the first, which he was commanded not to commit to writing, but to deliver down by oral tradition. When Moses came down from the Mount, they tell us that he first repeated this oral law to Aaron and his sons, and then to the seventy, and finally to all the people, each of whom was obliged to repeat it in his hearing, to insure its correct remembrance. Just before his death, they say, he spent a month and six days in repeating it to them again; and then, they assert, he committed it in a special manner to Joshua, through whom it was imparted to Phineas, and so on through the long line of prophets, and afterward of teachers, down to the time of Judah the Holy, who lived in the second century, by whom it was committed to writing lest it should be lost. This work, consisting of six books, is the famous Misna of the Jews, which, with its Gemara, or commentaries, constitutes their celebrated Talmud, in which is comprehended all their learning and much of their religion as a people. The whole work is held by them in far higher esteem than the Bible, so much so, that they say the Bible is water but the Talmud is wine; and they even declare that he who studies the Bible when he might read the Talmud does but waste his time; and that to sin against the latter is far worse than to sin against the former. So implicit is their confidence in this oral law that it is almost useless to reason with a Jew out of the Old Testament; for he is always ready with an answer from the Talmud, with the authority of which he is fully satisfied.

NEEDN'T HAVE MENTIONED IT.—He was a gentleman from the country, and had ensconced his "girl" and himself in the corner of a Highland car. As the vehicle sped up Shadwell avenue his arms began to steal around his companions waist, and his head inclined lovingly towards her, unconscious of observation by the remaining passengers. Just as the car approached Sawyer street, the conductor thrust his head inside the car and yelled "Sawyer," in close proximity to Hayes's head. The latter hastily drawing himself "into form," indignant remarked, "Yer needn't er howled it through the car if you did. We're engaged;" and the rest of the freight set their faces toward the driver and grinned.—Boston Commercial.

The Wisconsin Agricultural and Horticultural Society recently held an interesting session at Madison, the attendance being large. Among the subjects up for discussion was that of managing bees. Mr. E. W. Sanford, a practical bee-raiser, said there was more profit in the bee than in the cow; must use movable frames; stock of bees must not swarm; honey taken out when made; when flowers are plenty good swarms will produce twenty pounds a week; white clover is better than buckwheat for feed; good swarm of bees is worth $10, and would bring more clear profit than a good cow; he extracts the honey by an ingenious extricator preserving the comb entire.

Sheriff's Sale.

BY VIRTUE OF an interlocutory decree and a judgment rendered April 16th, 1875, by the District Court of the Second Judicial District of the State of Nevada, held in and for the county of Washoe, and now affirmed by the Supreme Court of said State, and by virtue of a certified copy of said decree to me delivered on the 13th day of April, A. D. 1877, and by virtue of my desire to have it executed and delivered, of the premises hereinabove described, by the several parties to said decree; which said decree was rendered in a certain suit pending in said above entitled court, wherein B. F. Rhodes, plaintiff and James
A. Kinkead, defendant, were the parties.
and by which said decree the Sheriff of Washoe county is made a Receiver, and directed, as Sheriff and Receiver, to sell at public auction in view of the premises, for cash, such promises, by absolute sale without redemption and on payment of the purchase money to the extent of the amount of said deed of trust, and promises to such purchaser or purchasers thereof, place such purchaser or purchasers in immediate ^{possession} of said premises, and remove all persons therefrom claiming said premises under all or any of the parties to said said decree, and to make and do all such other acts as may be necessary to effect the foregoing.

NOTICE is hereby given that on the SEV-ENTH DAY OF APRIL A. D. 1877, at West street, in front of the said premises and west of the same, the town of Reno, county of Washoe, and State of Nevada, between the hours of 9 o'clock in the forenoon and 5 o'clock in the afternoon, viz.: at 1 o'clock in the afternoon of said day of April, A. D.
1877, will sell at public auction to the highest and best bidder for cash, in full payment of said decree, the premises described in said decree, and the place or part of land situate in the town of Reno, county of Washoe, and State of Nevada, together with the tenements hereditaments and appurtenances thereof known and described on the map and survey of the town of Reno
